AN OVERVIEW OF RINGETTE

Ringette is a Canadian invention that has become one of the fastest team sports on ice. Sam Jacks, a recreation director and sports enthusiast from North Bay, Ontario, invented the sport in 1963 when he saw the need for a winter team sport for girls. Interestingly enough, Sam Jacks was also responsible for the development and introduction of floor hockey in 1936.

Since the early 1960s, the sport has continued to grow and currently boasts over 30,000 registered players (based on the 2016-2017 season) on nearly 2000 teams, with over 8000 coaches and over 1500 officials. While it is primarily a female sport, there are currently over 850 males playing ringette across the country.

Ringette, like hockey, is played on ice with skates and sticks by six players on each of two teams. The mission is to score goals by shooting the object of play into nets at either end of the rink during stop-time periods of play. But there the comparisons between ringette and hockey really end. The stick is straight. The object being pursued by players is a rubber ring, not a puck. There is no intentional body contact. And the rules of ringette make it a wide-open and dynamic sport.

The emphasis is on play-making and skating skills. Players cannot carry the ring across the blue lines on the ice. Only three players from each team, plus the defending goalie, are allowed in the end zones at the same time, which keeps the play open, puts a premium on sharp offensive moves, and requires defending players to skate close to their opponents. These features of the game demand the development of keen skating skills that give ringette players fantastic skating speed and agility.

In 2000, a 30-second shot clock was introduced to make the game even faster. The shot clock starts when a team gains possession of the ring, and if they have not taken a shot on the net within 30 seconds, a horn sounds and the ring is then awarded to the opposing team.

Internationally, ringette is played in a number of countries around the world, including Finland, Sweden, the United States, France, Slovakia, Russia, the Czech Republic, Japan, Australia, Germany, New Zealand and Abu Dubai.

Since 1990, a world ringette championship has been held on a regular basis, with Canada and Finland being the predominant challengers. Finland currently holds the world title after defeating Canada at the 2017 world ringette championship in Mississauga, Ontario.

Over the years, ringette has noted many achievements and accomplishments. These include the establishment of a Hall of Fame, which recognizes outstanding ringette achievements and contributions to the development of the sport; the introduction of a Learn to Skate Program for four to six year olds; a successful National Team Program; the introduction of a U19 program; the development of programs such as the National Coaching Certification Program and the National Officiating Certification Program; the development and implementation of a comprehensive Long Term Athlete Development model and a Come Try Ringette recruitment system; and an expanding National Ringette League.

Ringette tournaments abound. There are local and regional invitational tournaments throughout the season. University teams play competitively across Canada. Most of the provincial and territorial associations hold an annual championship tournament. Ringette has had a presence at the Canada Winter Games since 1991. And the Canadian ringette championships have been held every year since 1979. Teams from across the country will compete in the 2018 Save-On-Foods Canadian ringette championships being held in Winnipeg, Manitoba from April 8-14, 2018.

WORLD RINGETTE CHAMPIONSHIP

On a regular basis, Ringette Canada selects and prepares a national team to participate in the world ringette championship. While a world ringette championship was not held in 1998, teams from Canada and Finland toured Europe in a promotional Summit Series. In Colmar, France, Team Finland beat Canada 10-8 in the 5th and deciding game to win the Summit Series 3-2. This series between the two best teams in the world displayed ringette at its best and sparked great interest at stops in Germany, France, Sweden and France. In 2013, the format of the event changed to include competition in the junior and senior age divisions.

THE NATIONAL RINGETTE LEAGUE

The National Ringette League (NRL) is the showcase league for ringette in Canada and strives to be the premiere women's sports league in the country. The league, officially launched in November 2004, has made some significant improvements in the few short years it has been in existence. These include the creation of a state-of-the-art website, the development of a league-wide operations manual, the addition of a regional playoff system, the launch of the inaugural Canada Cup of Ringette and the addition of a national championship event which provides the format for NRL athletes to compete on a national basis towards a league championship.

The objectives of the NRL are to move ringette into the mainstream of Canadian sports activity, encourage greater public awareness of ringette, create more and better competitive opportunities for athletes, and achieve positive financial results at both a league and team level. The NRL functions as a committee under Ringette Canada, the national governing body of ringette in Canada.

The 2017-2018 season boasts 15 teams, which fall into a Western and Eastern Conference. Cambridge Turbos currently hold the NRL Championship title after downing the Atlantic Attack at the 2017 NRL Championship tournament final held in April 2017 in Leduc, Alberta. This year's NRL Championship tournament will be held in Winnipeg, MB from April 8 - 14, 2018.

Teams participating the 2017-2018 NRL season include:

Western Conference – BC Thunder, Calgary RATH, Edmonton Black Gold Rush, Edmonton WAM! and Manitoba Intact.

RINGETTE FACTS AND FIGURES

The rules

The original rules of ringette were written in 1963, and have been revised over the years to encourage fast-moving team play that is safe and free of intentional body contact.

- Each team may have up to 18 players, six of whom are on the ice at any given time.
- The objective is to control the ring while moving it down the ice in order to score goals. A goal is scored when the ring passes completely over the opponent's goal line into the net.
- The ring must be passed rather than carried over each blue line, although players may precede the ring into each zone.
- No more than three players from each team, plus the defending goalie, are allowed in the end zone at any one time.
